Education

- 1. University of Nebraska-Lincoln 08/2022 – 12/2026 (expected)
PhD in Agricultural Economics
 - Dissertation: “Three Essays on Rancher Preferences and the Adoption of Grassland Conservation Programs and Practices: Insights from a Survey in the Northern Plains States.”
- 2. University of Hohenheim, Germany 08/2016 – 09/2018
MS in Agricultural Economics
 - Dissertation: “Production and Consumption Effect of a Randomized Experiment of NERICA Rice Seed Distribution in Madagascar.”
- 3. Bangladesh Agricultural University, Bangladesh 01/2011 – 12/2012
MS in Production Economics
- 4. Bangladesh Agricultural University, Bangladesh 01/2007 – 12/2010
Bachelor’s in Agricultural Economics

Research Interests

My current research examines how agricultural producers and landowners make decisions about adopting conservation programs and management practices. Going forward, I am also interested to study how agricultural, food, and land-use policies influence producer and consumer decisions. I also plan work on regenerative agriculture, climate-change adaptation, and interdisciplinary studies that integrate economic, agronomic, biophysical, and management data.

Dissertation Research in Progress

Paper 1: Md Faizul Kabir, Elliott Dennis, Simanti Banerjee, Gwendôr Meredith, Timothy Pape, Mitch Stephenson, Craig Allen, and David Sandahl. “Evaluating Rancher Preferences and Policy Design for Grassland Conservation in the Northern U.S. Great Plains.” Manuscript in preparation.

Paper 2: Md Faizul Kabir, Elliott Dennis, Simanti Banerjee, and Gwendôr Meredith. “Perception versus Practice: How Misreported Rotational Grazing Adoption Biases Conservation Evaluation in the U.S. Great Plains.” Data analysis and manuscript preparation are in progress.

Paper 3: Md Faizul Kabir, Simanti Banerjee, Elliott Dennis, and Gwendôr Meredith. “The Role of Social Networks in Participation in Grassland Conservation and the Adoption of Associated Practices.” Data analysis and manuscript preparation are in progress.

Other Research in Progress

1. “Farmers’ Willingness to Adopt Conservation Practices in Nebraska.” With Karina Schoengold and Simanti Banerjee. Survey instrument preparation is underway.

Grant Proposals

1. “Improving U.S. Dry Bean Supply-Chain Competitiveness Under Changing Water, Production, and Market Conditions.” Led by Jayson Beckman, with a multi-investigator team. Submitted to the USDA National Institute of Food and Agriculture, Specialty Crop Research Initiative (SCRI); currently under review. Role: Drafted the main proposal narrative.

Conference Presentations and Workshops

1. Agricultural and Applied Economics Association (AAEA) Annual Meeting, Kansas City, MO, 2026. Presented Dissertation Papers 2 and 3.
2. Western Agricultural Economics Association (WAEA) Annual Meeting, Flagstaff, Arizona, 2026. Presented Dissertation Papers 1 and 3.
3. Joint AAEA and WAEA Annual Meeting, Denver, Colorado, 2025. Presented Paper 1.
4. LINKS Center Workshop on Social Network Analysis, University of Kentucky, Kentucky, 2024. Completed the intermediate course.

5. Society for Range Management (SRM) Annual International Meeting, Monterey, California, 2026. Presented Dissertation Paper 1.
6. Heartland Environmental and Resource Economics Workshop, Urbana-Champaign, Illinois, 2025. Attended the workshop.
7. Camp Resources XXXII, Asheville, North Carolina, August 9–11, 2026. Scheduled to present Dissertation Paper 1.

Research Experience

1. University of Nebraska-Lincoln, United States 08/2022 – Present
Graduate Research Assistant
2. Bangladesh Rice Research Institute (BRRI), Bangladesh 07/2013 – 06/2014
Scientific Officer
Responsibilities: Led research on rice variety adoption and economic analysis of production.
3. Bangladesh Bank [The Central Bank of Bangladesh] 07/2014 – 12/2015
Assistant Director
Responsibilities: Contributed to rural credit research and policy formulation.
4. BRAC – Dhaka, Bangladesh 10/2012 – 06/2013
Young Professional
Responsibilities: Research and reporting for the Agriculture and Food Security Program.

Teaching Experience

I see teaching as a collaborative process in which students actively engage with ideas rather than passively receive them, connecting economic theory to real-world practice. Whether students are analyzing economic tradeoffs, exploring natural-resource issues, or completing semester-long projects, my goal is to help them build the skills and confidence the course is meant to develop.

1. Instructor – Resource and Environmental Economics I (AECN 265) Spring 2025-Online Asynchronous
Designed and taught the course, including lectures, quizzes, assignments, and learning materials; mentored students through learning tasks; and evaluated performance and provided feedback.
2. Learning Assistant – Science and Decision-Making for a Complex World (SCIL 101) Fall 2025-Online Asynchronous and Spring 2026-In Person
Guided roughly 35 students through self-directed, semester-long Impact Projects grounded in scientific methods and real-world problems; helped design assignments and structure course content in Canvas; and provided iterative feedback and assessed final deliverables.
3. Teaching Assistant – Resource and Environmental Economics I (AECN 265) Spring 2024
Designed and managed Canvas discussion boards on key agricultural and environmental policies, created educational games and online activities, and graded quizzes and assignments.

Awards and Fellowships

- German Academic Exchange Service (DAAD) Fellowship for Master’s study at the University of Hohenheim, Germany
- International Water Management Institute (IWMI) Fellowship for Master’s study in Bangladesh
- Chancellor’s Graduate Travel Grant, University of Nebraska–Lincoln, Spring 2026 Activity Cycle

Technical Skills

Statistical Software	R (Advanced); Stata, SPSS, UCINET (Intermediate); MATLAB and Python (Basic)
Survey Research	Designed and administered two producer surveys (one complete, one in progress), covering questionnaire design, sampling, data management, and analysis
Field Interviews	Conducted structured interviews with approximately 30 ranchers across the Great Plains

Professional Memberships

- Member, Agricultural and Applied Economics Association (AAEA)
- Member, Western Agricultural Economics Association (WAEA)
- Member, Society for Range Management (SRM)
